

Your Partner for Explosion Protection

ATEX Products and Expertise

BERNSTEIN – Expertise in Safety Technology since the 60s

BERNSTEIN AG is one of the world's leading product and services providers in the field of safety technology for the electrical, chemical and engineering industry.

Over the past 60 years our involvement in safety technology has been focussed on providing expert advice and supplying our partners with standard components as well as complete system solutions. Explosion Protection (ATEX) and Machine Safety (MRL) are the foundations for the technical framework.

In this context, our system solutions such as preassembled enclosures and safety switches for use in safety systems and in Zone 1 and 2 as well as in Zone 21 and 22 explosion-protected areas form the link between Safety Integrity Level (SIL) and Explosion Protection (ATEX).

The high technical quality and expertise invested in our products and sector-specific solutions as well as cost leadership through optimised production processes offer a host of technical advantages along with decisive economic benefits.

The approvals and type approval certificates conform to the latest standards, the ATEX EC directive and the machinery directive.

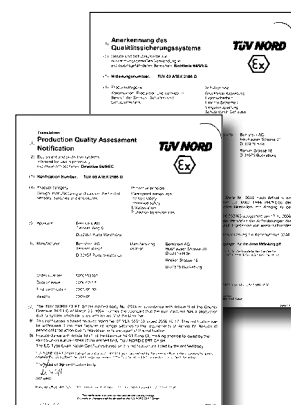

Through our close network of subsidiaries and sales offices throughout the world we are able to offer you optimum availability of our products and services on site.
